THE CORINOMA

Annville-Cleona High School
Annville, Pennsylvania

FOREWORD

This has been a year of "firsts." It was our first year in a new school building; it is also the first year for the publication of our yearbook under a new name, "The Corinoma."

The new name was suggested by Sandra Shaak, one of our seniors, and was adopted by votes of the senior student council, the junior student council, and a faculty committee.

We present this yearbook to the students and friends of Annville-Cleona High School in the hope that it may keep alive the many interesting memories of this exciting year.

The busses arrived for the first time on that misty September morning . . .

The first bus-load enters the south entrance . . .

Opening Day . . .

September 9, 1959

This was it--the day for which we had waited expectantly. Everything was new, shiny, spick-and-span--and strange!

Although we entered the doors eagerly, we hesitated inside, wondering where to go or what to do first.

Student council and honor society, faculty, and administration were at hand and eager to help--and so we soon felt at home. For, though the walls and corridors were new, the faces were those of our friends.

Another bus pulls up and unloads . . .

The office was a busy place that first day. Some students needed information about their classes; some were transfers from other schools; some were merely lost - temporarily . . .

Mrs. Rabold, Mrs. Markey, and Mr. Gingrich await the first day rush . . .

Principal and secretary assist puzzled students . . .

Opening devotions on opening day, usually held in the home rooms, were conducted through the public address system. Here Jayne Fernsler reads the scripture, while Judy Tanno, Don Hower, and Jim Honafius stand by . . .

Hall patrol awaits the passing of students . . .

The main corridor before completion . . .

The chemistry lab before occupancy . . .

We had had a few glimpses of our new building last spring, but it lacked something important--life!

We learned an important lesson as we recalled the nearly completed, but unoccupied, building--that schools are more than buildings; they are people!

Here's how the main corridor came to life on opening day . . .

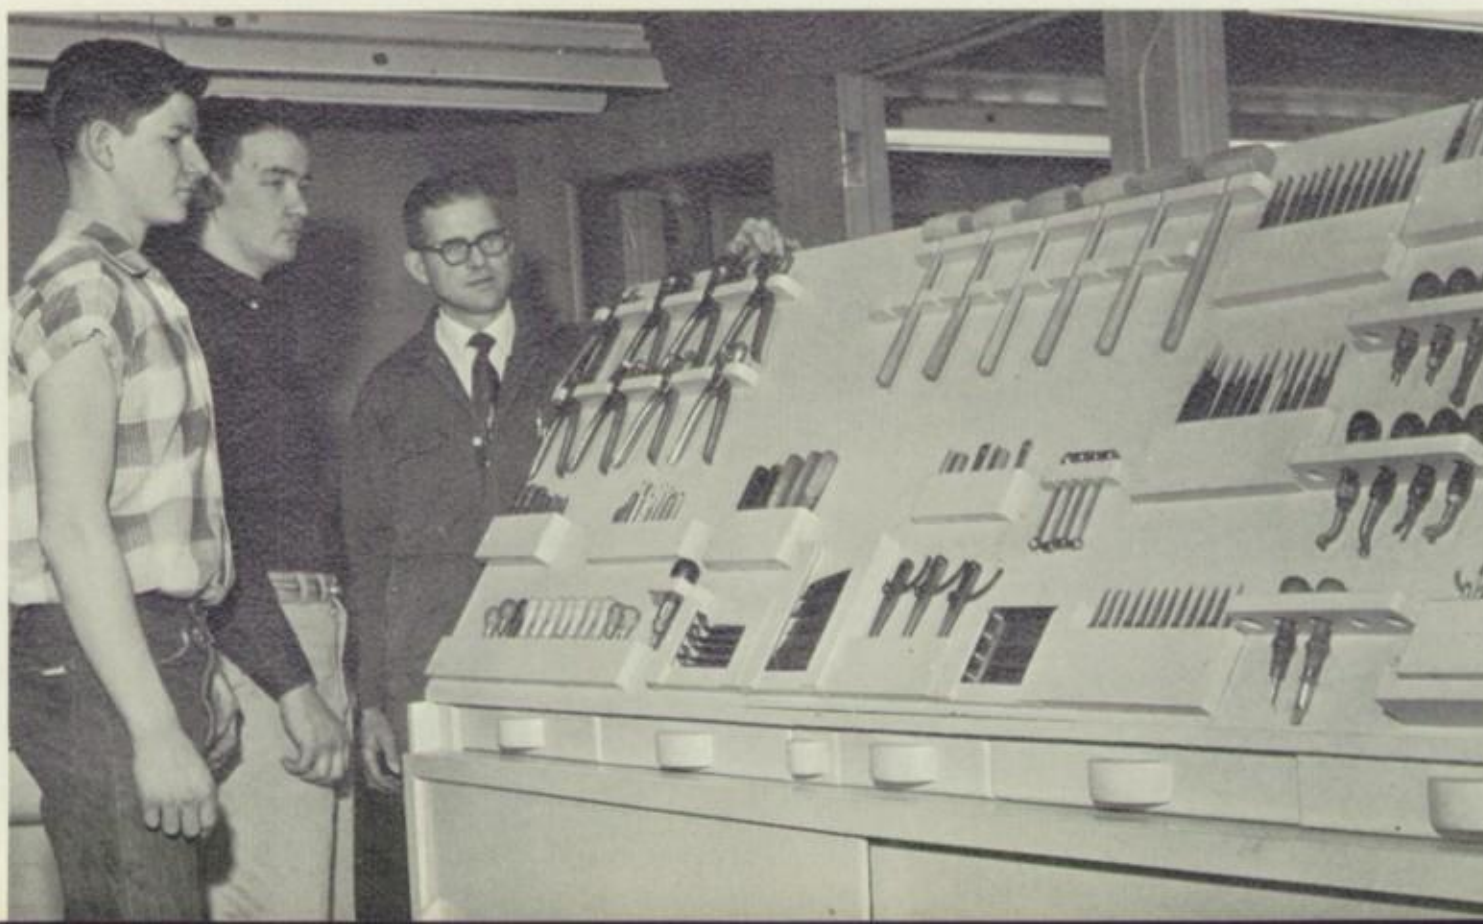

Mrs. Light's chemistry classes lost no time in putting the new lab to use . . .

An attractive new library came to life under Mrs. Moyer's direction, with Sandra Hoffer behind the desk to assist her . . .

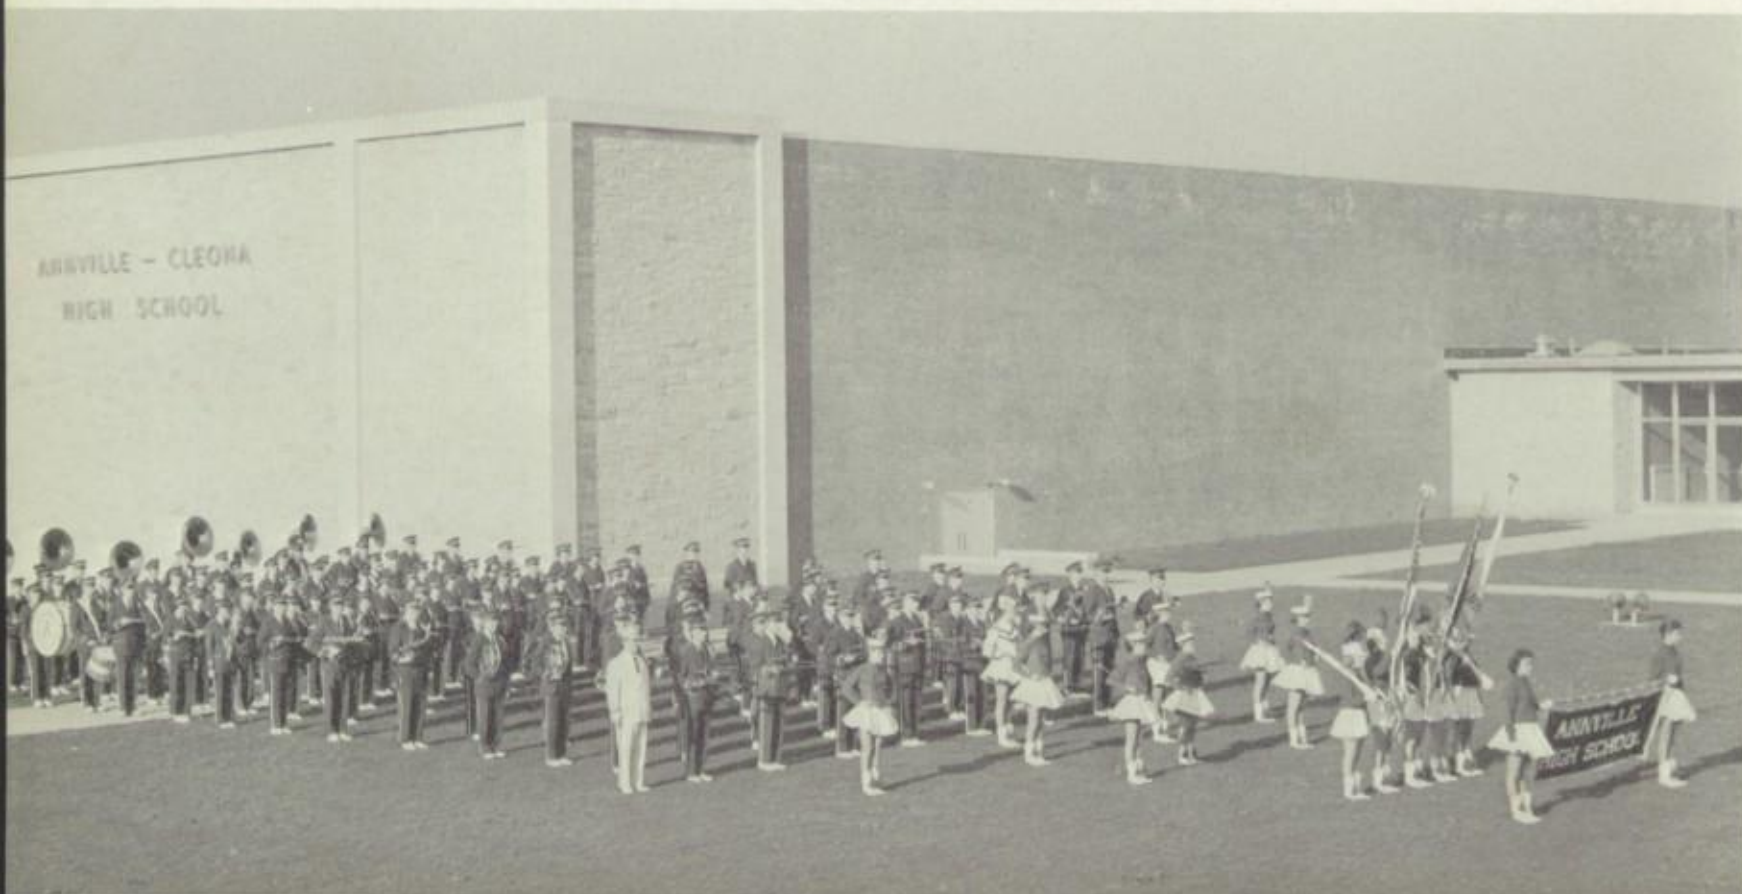

. . . and for the shop boys Mr. Kell displays new shops and equipment.

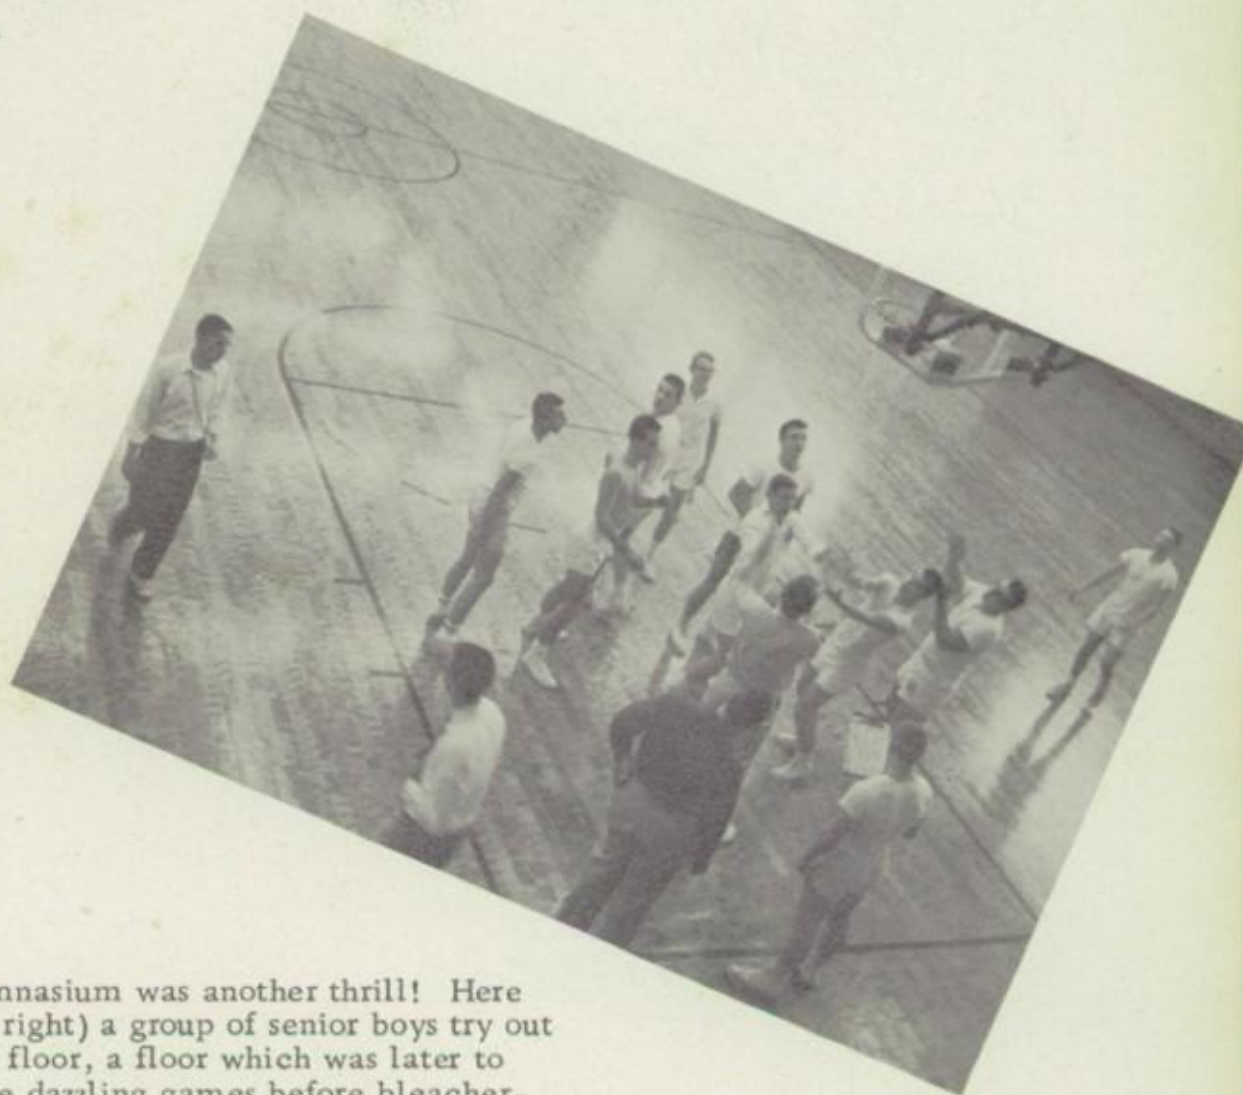

The band at rehearsal under Mr. Lemon's direction . . .

. . . and here, in parade formation, "looking pretty" for the photographer.

Mr. Lemon "reluctantly" moved his band from the boiler room of the old building to this bright and spacious rehearsal room in the new. Were we home home-sick? Perhaps! But we soon recovered!

The gymnasium was another thrill! Here (above, right) a group of senior boys try out the new floor, a floor which was later to see some dazzling games before bleacher-packed crowds (below), as the boys went on to become County Champions again . . .

Here "chow-hounds" Dick Stober, Chet Stroh, and Larry Snoke practice their art, while Dave Hartman and Ken Hill seem to be contemplating that forthcoming physics quiz.

Glenn Worcester seems unable to believe his eyes--or his nose--while Jim Leshner calmly pays the toll.

The new school had something else that the old school didn't have--chow! The pictures on this page show typical scenes in our new cafeteria. Sorry we can't reproduce the tantalizing odors of the food line nor the roar of friendly voices, but the faces tell the story!

Sue Ann Kreamer selects her dessert under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Blouch, while Larry Stoner and Ron Young try to talk the cooks out of an extra helping!

"Friendship hall" in action. Hey, who segregated the boys from the girls!

As November rolled around and senior play took the stage, a few students became aware of the fascinating controls backstage. Here Kay Spotts, Carolyn Swisher, and Sandy Shaak amusedly watch Jim Miller and Ron Fortna dim the lights, while Helen Tshudy prepares to run if he pulls the wrong switch . . .

But even a new building can't hold us forever. So here's a view of "the hill" at about 3:16 1/2 p.m. . . .

FIRST ROW: D. Ray Wenger, vice-president; James Karsnitz, president; Elra A. Worcester, secretary. SECOND ROW: Clifford Blauch, William Berry, Donald Klopp, E. D. Dedication

We, the class of 1960, proudly dedicate this edition of the Corinoma to our parents. We wish to acknowledge our parents for their many sacrifices, for their valuable lessons in patience, toleration, good judgment, and humanity, for their interest in both our physical and mental well-being, for their tireless efforts to guide us to a better and fuller life, and for their ceaseless devotion to the betterment of our school and our community.

The Student Council serves as our government body, five members from each class being elected each year by the student body.

It aims to develop a sense of responsibility and self-government among the students; to promote better cooperation among students, faculty, and administration; and to provide social activities for the students.

The Council has sponsored various money-making projects, has established a decoration fund for school functions, has promoted the work of the newspaper staff, and has prepared a school handbook, while supervising the day-to-day matters brought to its attention for action.

SEATED: J. Shuey, B. Granger, S. Shaak. STANDING: J. Lehman, J. Hostetter, R. Fortna.

Yearbook Staff

The Yearbook Staff consists of a group of seniors selected by a faculty committee, including the class advisors, to prepare and produce this yearbook.

Much work has been given to this project, especially by the editors. It is their hope that the results of their efforts may become more valuable as the years go by.

As we moved into our new building, it seemed appropriate to focus our attention on it, as well as to select a new name for our yearbook. The new name chosen by students and faculty was suggested by one of our staff members. (See page 4)

Mr. George Gerber, coach, and Mr. Richard Gingrich admire the trophy symbolizing the county championship. The team that won it for the third consecutive time looks on.

Track Team Third-Time Champions

While winning the Annual Lebanon County Track Meet for the third consecutive year, Coach George Gerber's team also set three new records, as follows:

880-yard run . . . 2:06.8 . . . William Young

High jump 5'9 1/2" . . Ronald Young

Mile relay 3:38.3 . . see team below

The Dutchmen won six of the eleven events in the meet, winning five of the six running events. They finished with 70 points to Cornwall's second-place 56.

Ellis Neidich, Annville's individual point leader, receives the congratulations of Mr. Gerber and Mr. Gingrich.

William Young (below) leads the field as he sets a new county record in the 880-yard run.

Dutchmen in District Play-offs

After a brilliant conquest of the Lebanon County championship for the third straight season, the Annville-Cleona Little Dutchmen entered the District Play-offs and easily defeated Upper Dauphin 67-51 at Cedar Cliff High School.

The second play-off game, played as part of a double bill at the Hershey Arena, saw the Dutchmen dropped from further competition by Columbia 56-51. Although defeated, Coach Grider's boys were far from out-classed, as they pushed Columbia to the limit and actually outscored them in all periods except a disastrous second quarter in which Columbia gained a 23-14 advantage. As it developed, this second-period slump decided the outcome.

All the pictures on this page are of the Columbia game.

Doug Royer (below) lays up a score, as two Columbia players move in too late.
